PRICE-HARDIN.

Marriage Of Two Popular Young People—Fiftieth Anniversary of Groom's Parents.

One of the most brilliant social events of the winter was the wedding of Miss Nancy Boyce Brice and Mr. Edward Henry Hardin, which took place at Woodward, S. C., on Monday, the 10th, at high noon. The marriage was impressively solemnized in the Concord Presbyterian church by the Rev. G. G. Mayes, of Blackstock.

The ushers were Messrs. W. H. Peck and Jay Hardin, of Chester, and Messrs. Jas. and Joe Brice, brothers of the bride. The dainty little ribbon girls and boys, Miss Sarah Patrick, of Woodward; Tom Brice, of Chester, Miss Nancy Brice, of Chester, and Willie Brice, of Woodward, were prettily attired, the girls in white gowns, and the boys in white serge suits.

Immediately preceding the bride, came the handsome dame of honor, Mrs. Jos. Brice, of Knoxville, Tenn., tastefully attired in a gown of pink tulle and lace, carrying pink carnations.

The bride came in on the arm of her father, Maj. Thomas W. Brice, being met at the altar by the groom, who came in with his best man, Mr. Jas. L. Davidson, of Chester.

The bride was beautiful in an exquisite gown of messaline satin trimmed with real Duchess lace. The veil was caught gracefully with the gift of the groom, a diamond crescent. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Ed Kennedy, of Blackstock.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the lovely new home of the bride, which is situated in sumptuousness and elegance the little bellum days of the old South.

The ice cold trees on the outside were in striking contrast to the scene of warmth and cheer within. The guests were received at the door by Mrs. Ed Kennedy and Miss Rebecca Craig. The hall was decorated with quantities of palms and red carnations. The parlor, where the bridal party received, was lovely in pink and white.

The guests were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Coleman, where an elegant luncheon was served. The table was exquisitely set in Cluny lace and white carnations.

Mrs. Hardin as Miss Brice is well known in Chester, where she is much-admired for her beauty and charming manners.

Mr. Hardin is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Hardin, and is one of Chester's foremost young men. With his father he constitutes one of the leading insurance firms of the city. He is also secretary and treasurer of the Chester Building and Loan Association and president of the Commercial and Manufacturers' Club. He numbers his friends by the score, who will rejoice with him in his good fortune in winning this lovely daughter of Fairfield as his bride.

The friends and relatives who attended the wedding were Mr. P. L. Hardin; Mrs. Jno. O. Hardin, Miss Annie Hardin, Miss Fannie Moore, Miss Kittle and Rebecca James, Mr. William James, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Melton, Misses Berta Heath and Louise Glenn, Mr. J. L. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Aiken, Messdames W. F. Marion, S. R. McFadden, G. Carl Latimer, Mr. and Mrs. Stirling, and Mrs. W. DeK. Wylie, of Richburg.

The bridal party left on the six o'clock train for Chester, where they were entertained at a elaborate dinner at the home of the groom, who enjoyed the unusual privilege of being married on his parents' fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The decorations were beautiful on the occasion, white and gold.

Mr. B. F. Faley Dead. Mr. B. F. Faley died about noon Tuesday, Feb. 11, 1908, at the home of Mrs. Lucy Stokes, on Elizabeth street, after an illness of about ten days with grip and pneumonia. It will be remembered Mrs. Faley died when she was about 18 years of age, when he married her. At the time of her death Mr. Faley had been in bed two or three days. He was a native of Ireland but came to New Orleans, La., with his parents when he was about 12 years old and remained there until the outbreak of the civil war. He volunteered at the beginning of the war and went out with the Louisiana Tifens, making a good and faithful soldier. After the surrender he came to this city and settled in the Balmainville neighborhood, where he remained until five weeks ago, when he moved to this city. He married Miss Kate Wright and to them were born three children, Mr. T. C. Faley, of this city, Mr. W. B. Faley, of Charleston, Tenn., and Mrs. Sallie Milhan, of Atlanta, all of whom were with him during his last illness. The burial was in the cemetery at Beaver Creek Baptist church Wednesday afternoon, after funeral services in the church conducted by Rev. E. D. Wells.

Mr. David Coleman, of Jonesville, who was about 72 years old, died at his home Friday night, leaving a wife and children. It seems that Mr. Coleman had had a narrow escape from death a few days before, when he could not catch the train, but he had contracted a cold, and the result of it was his death.
